

Blond String Quartet

Boasting an extensive repertoire and promising to bring something a little different to your special event, Blond String Quartet are a professional, all female group of musicians with a passion for performing. From classical to romantic, jazz to pop, the foursome are ready and waiting to provide a stunning and inspiring accompaniment to your corporate event.

Established in 2001 by four exceptionally talented musicians, Blond String Quartet brings together a group of friends who are all passionate about music.

After meeting, studying and playing together at music college, it seemed a natural progression that the four should perform professionally.

Having impressed at corporate events, made parties memorable and performed recitals for ten years, the Blond String Quartet have developed a wide, varied and exciting repertoire.

Musician, Karina MacAlpine, says: "We have a massive repertoire, covering everything from the usual standard string quartet numbers to jazz, Broadway show tunes and pop – whatever our clients require us to play, we always do our best to come up with the goods."
