

English Pro Musica

English Pro Musica take their presentation as seriously as their music and have a variety of looks depending on what is required - DJs, tails, white DJs or all black, with the ladies in long or short dresses, black or coloured.

They range from a full orchestra to smaller groups such as string quartet or brass ensemble.

The quartet has played at many top hotels and venues in London and around the UK for weddings and corporate events alongside other entertainment headliners including Rory Bremner, Pavarotti, Leo Sayer.

They also played for Boy George's birthday party at his home on one memorable occasion with an arrangement of Karma Chameleon made specially for him!

Their music includes well-known Classical favourites as well as jazz standards and other popular music.

The English Pro Musica are the ideal choice to provide elegant background music to help build some atmosphere to any event or occasion.
